Terrie O'Connor Realtors Participate in Ramapo College Job Fair

Terrie O'Connor Realtors returned to Ramapo College's annual Spring Job Fair this year. The company was among a number of businesses from the area meeting with Ramapo students, graduates and those looking for a new career from the community.

Terrie O'Connor representatives Brandon Fuller, Joseph Sarkar and Megan Foltz each have their own unique experiences as to how they got started in the real estate career and were able to share their background and experiences with prospective new Sales Associates.

Joseph Sarkar graduated from Seton Hall University and began his real estate career fresh out of college. He was the recipient of the RealSource Board of Realtors Rookie of the Year Award and continued to earn even more designations such as GRI (Graduate Realtor Institute), ABR (Accredited Buyers Representative), AHS (Accredited Home Staging Specialist) and e-Pro (Certified internet professional). He is now recognized as one of the top producers in the industry.

Megan Foltz began as a Marketing intern with Terrie O'Connor Realtors while studying Business Administration/Marketing at Ramapo College. She earned her real estate license as a junior in college and became the Administrative Manager for the Ramsey office upon graduating last May.

Brandon Fuller entered the field in 2002. He owned and operated his own Real Estate firm beginning in 2005 in Northern Utah prior to relocating to New Jersey. Terrie O'Connor Realtors is so pleased to have someone with Brandon's interesting experiences on our team.

Terrie O'Connor encourages those looking into real estate to get started now! By the time our market begins to turn, they will be licensed, completed our extensive company training program and ready to begin their real estate marketing and sales career.
